

4-5 Thin on the ground

Local authority budget cuts have left private service sector workers at greatly increased risk. Over-stretched safety inspectors don't have the time to protect you.

6-9 News in brief

Death duties. Safety reps' role. Prescott's promises. HSE quickies. Hazards looks for Businessmen behaving badly. Stopping smoking. Europe's jobs. NHS violence. The Hazards Questionnaire.

10-11 Strains and sprains

A bad boss is a pain. GMB rehabilitation prize. Small firm bad backs. UNISON cleaner research. Ergonomia.

12-13 Safety is a human right

The Human Rights Act gives workers more rights to safe, healthy work and places health and safety enforcement agencies under the spotlight.

15 Overworked

Depressing news. Burnout Britain. Stress at work.

16-17 Working alone

Health and safety risks don't stop when everyone else goes home. Hazards gives the essential guidance on lone working.

18-19 Sustainable, safe and secure jobs

Moving from polluting, environmentally unfriendly jobs to the safe, sustainable and socially productive jobs of tomorrow.

20 How could you miss this?

Official watchdogs missed an epidemic of industrial disease at a UK chemical factory. Unions didn't.

21 Asbestos must go

Europe is on the way to its asbestos ban. Now an international campaign is demanding a global phase out.

22-23 Safety reps are moving on!

A new roving safety reps scheme is to start. It's bigger and better than the last pilot scheme - but has it learned all the lessons?

22-26 What the unions say

Safety is tops. Fat cats licked. Organising on the web. Left hand blow. What price on your life? Let us work. Acoustic shock.
